

CHRISTMAS ON BROADWAY AT THE ROYAL WELSH COLLEGE OF MUSIC AND DRAMA
ON FRIDAY 9 DECEMBER 2022

The Master Stuart Castledine, his Consort Christine, JW Agnes Xavier- Phillips JP DL, Liverymen and guests were invited to join the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama with whom we have a long-standing relationship through our Awards programme for a special day out at its Christmas on Broadway show.

This spectacular show was a celebration of festive musical theatre treats from stage, screen and more, including White Christmas, She Loves Me and Meet Me in St Louis plus some cherished seasonal classics performed by the College's very talented Musical Theatre students accompanied by the Royal Welsh College Concert Orchestra.

A pre-show reception of mince pies and mulled wine in The Seligman Studio gave Liverymen and guests the opportunity to get together for fellowship and enjoyment of Christmas before the show commenced in the Dora Stoutzker Hall.

A warm welcome was extended to new Liveryman Mrs Jenny Barton-Greenwood, Brigadier Robert Aitken CBE, the Lord Lieutenant of Gwent guest of the JW Agnes Xavier-Phillips and all other guests some of whom had travelled from Bristol

We were also joined by the Musical Director Tim Rhys- Evans MBE , Marie Wood Head of Revenue Fundraising and Gwenan Jenkins- Jones Development Manager from the RWCMD.

The Master thanked Liverymen and guests for supporting the event and also thanked the RWCMD and JW Agnes Xavier-Phillips for their support and input and last but not least Keith Shankland for suggesting the festive event.

A wonderful and enjoyable afternoon was had by all! What a wonderful start to Christmas 🎄!
