Bishop Vaughan School Swansea

This year Clexanne Dychitan has received the WLCOW 2024 award. The Head of Sixth Form said “We are extremely proud of Clexanne and during her time in Bishop Vaughan, she has always been a highly motivated and well-respected student. She is polite, hardworking, caring, courteous, respectful, and reliable. She shows an exceptionally mature attitude towards her own learning and is keen to develop her knowledge and understanding in any way that she can. She has now successfully applied to study Applied Software Engineering at Cardiff University. During her time in Bishop Vaughan sixth form, Clexanne achieved

*A in Mathematics, A in Psychology, A in Advanced Welsh Baccalaureate and a Distinction * in Business Studies. Clexanne is a very good communicator both in written and oral form and is always willing and keen to participate fully. She works well as a member of a team as well as showing excellent leadership potential. Every teacher who knows Clexanne would state that it is truly a pleasure to teach her and that they will miss her dearly as a student but wish her the best. We know that thanks to the WLCOW award, Clexanne will be able to purchase books that she will need to study on the Applied Software Engineering course in Cardiff's university.”*

Hari Tudur Pembroke

This year's WLCOW Award went to Charlotte Kinsella. She wrote in response “Dear Worshipful Livery Company of Wales, I am getting in touch to say I am incredibly grateful to have received this award. The financial support has allowed me to begin my studies at Cardiff University with a new laptop, ensuring I could start on equal footing with my peers.

I'm proud that my hard work has paid off, and I was honoured to achieve the highest A-level results among my fellow free school meal students, and amongst the highest of the whole cohort. I am now studying psychology, a course I am deeply enjoying and passionate about.

Thank you once again for your generosity and belief in my potential. This award has made a real difference in my journey.

*Best wishes,
Charlotte ”*

Coleg Merthyr

This year's Award has gone to Jess Bird. Jess received an A* in Government and Politics, an A in Sociology, A in Business and will now be progressing to study Politics and Sociology at Cardiff University. Jess was an original member of the Learner Advisory Group for Qualifications Wales contributing to the new assessments. This involved speaking with Welsh Minister for Education and participating in a live BBC Radio Wales interview. creating promotional material via videos and providing quotes. She shared my experiences in the group. Jess commented "It has been fascinating to see how student opinions are valued, and the way in which these will be utilised and realised in assessments in the near future". At college Jess earned the Academic Excellence Award in Government & Politics and previously obtained the science endeavour award the Morgan Knight prize for Business and the Outstanding Learner for Performing Arts Award.

She feels that Being a Livery Guild Award Winner will very much enhance her educational journey at Cardiff university. Her Award was presented by Past master Kathy Seddon and liveryman Margaret Davies. We were joined by Megan Clack from Merthyr College who works with college promotion.

Chepstow School

Sophie Hawker was chosen to receive this year's Award. Sophie received an unconditional place at Gloucester University to join the childhood and youth studies four year honours course - which is ranked in the top 10 in the UK. She has worked incredibly hard to gain top grades in Psychology, Criminology and the Welsh Bacc. Outside school Sophie has worked part time in a care home gaining an insight into the issue faced there which will help her future studies. She is also a carer herself.
